

Call for Applications to the EU Undergraduate Fellows Program

We invite all Princeton freshmen, sophomores, and juniors interested in the European Union and European politics and economics to apply for admission to the undergraduate fellowship in the EU Program.

EU Program Undergraduate Fellows will:

- Participate in EU Program seminars, lectures, and conferences
- Receive priority for EU Program lunches and dinners
- Have opportunities to design activities in their own areas of interest (e.g. inviting a speaker, publishing an undergraduate publication, launching exchanges, conduct interviews with our speakers to be posted on the EU Program website).

Founded in 2004, the EU Program at Princeton sponsors events and activities at Princeton University relating to the European Union and European politics generally. These include lectures and seminars, research conferences, public commentary, visiting fellows, course development, policy analysis, student activities, and informational outreach. The EU Program is supported by grants from the Princeton Institute on International and Regional Studies, the Niehaus Center for Globalization and Governance, and the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs. It is directed by Professor Andrew Moravcsik and Dr. Sophie Meunier. For more information on the EU Program and a calendar of its events, see www.princeton.edu/europe.

Interested students should send a completed application by email to Dr. Sophie Meunier, smeunier@princeton.edu.
